Subjects of Interest To Glades Dominate Annual Meeting

The Florida Soil Science Society in its annual meeting at Clewiston elected Dr. Thomas Forsee, Chemist at the Everglades Station, as its President to succeed Horace Bester.

Practically the entire meeting was taken up with discussion of hyacinth control in our canals and lakes, weed killing and water control. The several agencies cooperation on these problems were represented by speakers who brought out the broad ramifications of experiments and work that has been done on these problems.

The control of hyacinths was recommended by air spraying as well as by boat, and then

"THEM BRASS HATS"

As a term of affection and respect we have frequently referred to the Scientists at the Everglades Experiment Station and their associates as "Brass Hats."

At no time in the history of the Glades is it more evident just how much the success of the Glades is dependent on these "Brass Hats." This term includes the Engineers—both our local civilian engineers and those of the U. S. Army, as well as the Soil Conservation Department and the Coast and Geodetic Survey—as well as chemists, botanists, pathologists, animal husbandry, and the many others who deal with agricultural and allied subjects.

Crops, when adapted to the soils and climate of the muck, generally do better here than elsewhere, and the adaptation of these crops is done in the muck. "Brass Hats." No crop successfully grown in the Glades but has been greatly benefited by their patient and tireless work. Cattle, dairy and beef, beans, celery, potatoes, raisins, sugar cane, and many other crops are definitely obligated to these scientists for success in the Glades.

Two Glades "Brass Hats," Horace Bester of Clewiston a drainage engineer, and Tommie Forsee (Dr. W. T.), are the immediate past and present President of the Soil Science Society, and each has contributed immeasurably to the Glades.

The Society, itself has devoted the past several annual meetings to subjects of immediate interest to the Glades.

We salute our own "Brass Hats" for their fellow workers who are proud to work with them and are thankful for their work. We are proud that the annual meeting of the Soil Science Society was held in the Glades.

patrol to keep the hyacinths from reinfesting the waters. The Everglades Station, the Everglades Drainage district and the U. S. Engineers have done work in Florida on hyacinths and the Engineers have carried on control in Louisiana. Cooperation is definitely practical and most desirable say the experts.

Weed killing by chemicals also came in for consideration and reports with not too much enthusiasm for this method of eradication.

Salt water infiltration may be controlled according to New D. Hoy of the U. S. Geological Survey.

"Flood control is a statewide problem," says Col. A. G. Matthews of Tallahassee. John Johnson and Harold Scott of the U. S. Engineers contributed interesting comments overall. Mr. Scott believes that in the comprehensive water control plan the people of Florida have within their grasp their greatest opportunity since the achievement of statehood."

Mr. Scott is the one man who is probably not known to the Glades because of his work since his interception.

The Glades offers interesting studies for members of the Soil Society and it has contributed immeasurably to its progress.

Parking Meters Go In Commission This Friday

Except for the volunteer donated by the city parking meters which have been unused during the summer months, they will go again into commission on October 15th. Warren G. State Pays Out Millions To Indigent Citizens

The State Welfare Board of Palm Beach County announces that it now has 2567 persons who are receiving state aid. The list is growing each month. The distributions for the month of September were as follows: Aged needy, $50,000; blind, $22,287; the department, in the highest number of cases, have directed case inspectors, to make revisions on allowances, as the case may require. The total cost of the program was $1,171,757, to 106,830 claimants.

Celebrity Interests Held Pow-wow at Orlando Thursday

Florida celery growers and shippers wondering what the 1948-49 season has in store for them gathered in Orlando Thursday, for a conference to talk over the problems which face them.

Local celery growers and shippers were low as $1.75 box, at the packing houses, and on this basis but little money was made on the deal. One reason for this low price was too much planting. Total income for the season was around ten million, something less than the cost of planting and marketing.

One advanced step has already been taken by the growers this year and that is the adoption of a one type package or containers, adapted to the shipping of any type or size of celery. This will do away with the necessity of having to keep assorted knock down sizes in stock.

Congress in its session made many changes in shipping laws, there have been revisions in the tariff, and other operating marketing agreements, and at the Orlando meeting, these features were presented and discussed, and will be worked into the Florida program as far as they can be adaptable. Growers also discussed the cropping of celery, to be arranged if possible so that there will not be overplanting, to cause glutting of the market and price.

Inquiry around the State shows that most all former growers of celery will be in the field, formerly with the best, much planting as customary. While seed beds were partially lost by the recent flood, the sufficient supply of plants, so that planting will be normally hindered, and some farmers are already busy transplanting into the fields.

Mrs. Ruth Wedgworth, of the Wedgworth estate, states that the coming season, "Rhubarb" will be a major crop. The Beverly, of Canal Point, will be planted because the plant is the new sales manager and former, for the coming season. The main production for the Wedgworth farms will again be celery, as it was in the 1947-48 season.

O. G. McWhorter, who had been with the Wedgworth's since 1934, in various capacities, of late years as sales manager, last spring, retired from the packing house business, to devote his time to private interests.

Rams Win First Home Game; Meet Eagles Tonight

Williams To Come Passing Combination Play Off With Win Over Fernandina

Belle Glade's Golden Rams rolled to victory over a visiting team of Fernandina Pirates last Friday night at Memorial Field in a game which proved to be a good one though the final score stood 27 to 7 in the Rams favor.

This was the Rams first victory of the season having lost to Panama City, 13 to 7 and to Vero Beach, 14 to 7. Belle Glade's first opportunity to score came early in the first period when the Pirates tried a quick kick to the middle field stripe. The ball, blocked by one of Fernandina's own men, was recovered by the Rams and they scored on a 45 yard run by Jerry Conner, with a pass good for 25 yards, and he crossed the goal line standing. Williams kicked the point.

Fernandina's first opportunity came later in the first quarter.

Plane Decapitates W. C. Des Noyers At Moore Haven

Sudden and unexpected death to William C. Des Noyers, aged 27, assistant agricultural engineer at the Everglades Experiment Station, while at work taking pictures on the Government dam at Moore Haven, Wednesday night, October 14, was being decapitated when a herculean gust of wind struck the plane during a late afternoon exhibition. The experience was distributed by means of a low flying plane.

W. T. Forsee had been designated to take the picture. The plane, a Cessna, was brought to the local police station for investigation by Supt. Pruitt, and was held in custody until after a coroner's inquest, before Judge Tedder, to determine the cause of the accident and who was to blame.

Des Noyers, graduate of the University of Florida, and a World War II Veteran, came to the station around a year ago, and with his family, consisting of a wife and two children, made his home in Chosen, and was a rising young specialist in his type of agricultural work.

He also leaves a mother who resides in Cleveland. No official inquest was conducted at Moore Haven, the body was turned over to the Bel Air.

No services were held locally, the body being shipped on Friday morning to Cleveland, where a funeral and burial will take place.

The Bobcats played good football and chalked up a victory by the score of 19 to 0. The team goes to Miami, this Friday night, where they will meet the E. Carver High Industrial School team.

Kaltenborn Talks On Glades Problems

"The State of Florida" is the topic of a series of interesting fifteen minute broadcasts that are being given by Karl Kaltenborn, Republican Candidate for the 4th Congressional District, at 8:45 A. M. on Mondays through Friday over station WWSN, during this month.

The speaker dealt ably with the people and their problems in this area. Mr. Kaltenborn is the son of H. V. Kaltenborn, the well known radio commentator, and has just completed a four month tour of Florida and has carefully studied the local control plan.

John L. Olsen Meets Death When Struck By Passing Truck

A fatal accident occurred around 6:45 o'clock, Wednesday morning, in which John L. Olsen, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was the victim, he died several hours later after having been taken to the Belle Glade Hospital, in Berry's ambulance.

Olsen, apparently a hitchhiker, stood on the left side of the road, just south of the Avenue E street light, hoping to pick up a ride. A colored truck driven by a white man, who was carrying a load of lumber, struck him from the rear.

Search of his effects showed that he had little property but his social security card and a pair of eye glasses, was not overly well dressed, but was in a cleanly condition. His home address in Brooklyn was not known to local authorities.

McCormick, after the accident, continued on his trip to the plant, and later was brought to the local police station for investigation by Supt. Pruitt, and was held in custody until after a coroner's inquest, before Judge Tedder, to determine the cause of the accident and who was to blame.

Dial Phone To Be Installed In February

The conversion schedule for dial telephones for Belle Glade has been postponed until February 12, 1949. This change has been announced by C. F. Jackson, manager of the Southern Bell Telephone Company for this district, due to the lack of necessary materials.

Glades Branch Has Enjoyable Dinner Tuesday

Discuss The Celebrated Harvard Case Relating To Truck Movement Engineers

Six months seemed too long a vacation for the members of the Glades Branch of the National League of the Wholesale Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Distributors Association, for when the 28 members gathered in attendance at the Glades club on Tuesday night, they seemed to be exceedingly glad to see each other and made a merry and enjoyable event of the occasion.

If there was any pessimism existent in connection with the coming crop season it was not outwardly shown or expressed, but rather optimism prevailed, although all were willing in singing "Rain Stay Away."

The group reached the dining room, and Landlord Makis brought in those man sized steaks, which were most delicious, the well known radio commentator, and there were some swelled gullets about the mid-riff section of the group.

President Luke Frausere's first act was to name Lee Hyman, Roy Seegre and Harold Rahn, as a committee to arrange for the fall Ladies and Night, which will be observed at the time and place to be given by notification. It may be Clewiston, Lake Worth or Ft. Lauderdale.

The committee is to provide a "talk" which is interesting in the beautification of the city, especially the Hillsboro Canal banks; and in systematic program for the removal of weeds and grasses from vacant lots on a specified time schedule.

They want landscaping, planting of trees and shrubbery along the waterway, and will lend their aid and talent to the project. They felt that a beautification of the city would be a good advertisement for the city.

The Commission will give the idea consideration and will endeavor to work out a program to bring about the changes requested.

The Commission passed a resolution setting up a City Charity Fund, not to exceed $500.00 at any one time, the income to come from parking meter collections and overtime donations. The fund will be used for caring for extreme charity cases that may come up during the year.

The city police department being badly in need of a new patrol car, a new patrol car was purchased from the Belle Glades Motor Corporation, on a bid of $1633.90, less Federal taxes, amount to be delivered within 30 days. The old car will be shifted over to use in another city department.

City Solicitor Herbert Beck presented the new zoning map as prepared on the recommendation of the City planning Board, and it was given considerable discussion and study, and several suggested changes will be included before the ordinance is introduced for passage, accepting the full zoning plan. The plan includes many advantageous changes in zoning, industrial and residential classifications.

The term of John L. Evans as member of the Belle Glade Commission expires this fall.

Ralph Blank Gives Excellent Speech Before Lions Club

When Ralph Blank, the energetic and efficient secretary of RBD gets up to address an audience, there is unusual attention, for the auditors know they are to hear something that will be worth their consideration. That condition existed at the Lions Club large attended meeting on Wednesday, and Blank entertained with good solid address on "Building the Cities of the Lake Region."

His talks are of a different kind and content than those of other speakers, and in his talk, he told of the requirements which would be necessary to build our section up into a cosmopolitan section.

Some of his plans were Faith, co-operation, harmony, tolerance, support of worthy projects, hard work, and a united front. It was "loud" shirt day with the Lions, and a score of the members came with wonderful creations. Luther Jones and Tom Watson, Rotarian judges, awarded the prize to "Society" which was a combination was certainly a scream.

The Zone Ladies Night Party at the Clewiston Inn, next Monday night, promises good attendance from Belle Glade and Pahokee.

Beautification Of Canal Banks Urged By BWP Club Unit

The Business and Professional Women's Club unit presented a communication to the City Commission on Wednesday night, but also had a delegation in attendance headed by Mrs. Virginia Lively.

The "talk" was interesting in the beautification of the city, especially the Hillsboro Canal banks; and in systematic program for the removal of weeds and grasses from vacant lots on a specified time schedule.

They want landscaping, planting of trees and shrubbery along the waterway, and will lend their aid and talent to the project. They felt that a beautification of the city would be a good advertisement for the city.

Scientists Discuss X Disease Poisonous Plants And Value Of Copper To Glades Cattle

Belle Glade Selected As Site For Cattle Auction Market By Member Vote

Dr. C. F. Simpson, representing the Federal Agency, Dr. A. L. Shealey of the University of Florida and Dr. Chas. R. Foreman of Ft. Lauderdale led a discussion at the Palm Beach County Cattlemen's Association meeting Monday night, on the recently published X Disease.

The disease has been dubbed "X" because it is of unknown origin, unknown cure and unknown degree of contagion. It was first recognized in New York State in 1938 and has since been recognized in most southern states also. It is not a peculiarly muck or Florida disease but is causing a baffling loss to the animal husbandry section.

Two animals found in the Glades, one taken to Auburn and posted with numerous veterinarians joining in the study of the reports of the examination.

The cattlemen were advised to take all precautions as though the disease is highly contagious and immediately contact the Experiment Station or some veterinarian. As more information and conclusions are available the public will be kept informed.

Erdman West, Botanist of the University of Florida informed the audience that there are numerous poisonous weeds and that he has spent considerable time cataloguing and classifying them. A meeting will be held in the near future to the public in a bulletin of the University.

A lively discussion was had concerning the amount of copper in the salt lick or through drenching or sprayed on grass. Local cattlemen gave experience wherein more than 5 percent copper was administered without any evident ill effects.

The meeting was also adopted the recommendation of the board of Directors which recommended that a cattle auction market be located near Belle Glade. A site on the extension of SW Avenue E where the road crosses the canal, indicated as the permanent site, the debris from the propeller blades. Boating in those days.

South Dakota Firm Purchases Packing Plant in Belle Glade

Announcement is made this week of a business transaction which is expected to mean much for the welfare of Belle Glade.

Royce Dean and Elmer Osling, of Hatton, North Dakota, who are the main stockholders in the Florida Food Products Corporation, have sold the Canning plant property to the "D Bar-H Refinery," of Grand Fork, S. D., and the latter's president, Carrol E. Gay, is now in Belle Glade going over the local plant, with expectation of operating same this fall.

The new owner corporation is a large firm which operates a chain of bottling works in Minnesota, North and South Dakota, with headquarters at Grand Fork.

Mr. Gay, a fine appearing and virile looking man, states that this venture will be the first invasion into the canning business but with past experience in other lines, is not dubious of success here. He also states the company is investigating the possibility of installing locally, and that is of freezing fish on a commercial basis which would be the only one of its kind in Florida.

With the sale of the canning plant, the Florida Food Products Corporation, has now disposed of all its property holdings, except several houses and vacant lots near the canning plant, and elsewhere these are offered for bid sale.

The former packing plant and pre-cooling unit, was recently purchased by the Belle Glade Farmer's Co-operative, its permanent packing house home.

OBSERVATION And Comment By John M. Gladhill

L. W. Will, who was the last man to operate a boat from Belle Glade to Fort Lauderdale through the Hillsboro Canal, Lake Okeechobee and thence down the New North River waterway, says in looking around the city after the September hurricane, he missed a land mark that had been mighty prominent when he was "boating."

This was the gnarled and old gum tree which stood near the Pete Seagraves packing house on the Palm Beach road, which acted as a signpost for his navigation, while making a landing at the Glades hotel dock. The old tree had been in a decadent condition for several years, and the late storm brought its existence to an end, tearing it up so that it was removed from the highway right of way.

Clint Stone owned and operated for several years the gasoline engine driven vessel "Pete Seagraves" which he had installed locally, and that is of freezing fish on a commercial basis which would be the only one of its kind in Florida.

With the sale of the canning plant, the Florida Food Products Corporation, has now disposed of all its property holdings, except several houses and vacant lots near the canning plant, and elsewhere these are offered for bid sale.

 DANGEROUS HOMES

The housing shortage has forced many people to move into temporary dwellings, where wiring, heating units and cooking equipment are frequently makeshift and unsafe. And that, in turn, has created a new and very grave menace to life from fire. As a tragic example, a woman in a Washington town recently left her infant children in a temporary shelter while returning a borrowed utensil to a neighbor next door. She returned home to find the house in flames and the children dead.

It will be a good many years before the housing shortage is eliminated. In the meantime, the problem of reducing the hazard in substandard structures is two-fold. The first phase must be a constant vigilance on the part of the families living in them. Everything must be done to make electric and heating equipment as safe as possible—and it should be done by a qualified mechanic, not an amateur handyman. Children should never be left without adult supervision. And some sort of approved fire extinguisher should be available for instant use.

Second, it is the duty of municipal authorities to constantly inspect dwellings, particularly those which are of a temporary nature, and enforce adequate safety codes. This will cause hardships—but no hardship is as serious as death by fire.

The hazard of fire can be serious even in well-built, well-maintained homes. It is critical in old run-down dwellings, or new "cardboard houses."

How to Celebrate Your Wedding Anniversary

The "Dutch" Millers celebrated their Tin Wedding Anniversary Saturday. Everything had to be in the place. Funks even ate off tin plates, and drank coffee out of tin cups.

When it came time to drink a toast to the "bride and groom," it was the final touch: tin cups and beer in cans. And come the Millers' 10th anniversary (Glad!) I expect I'll be toasting them with sparkling beer in bottles!

And I couldn't help thinking that there was a lesson for married folk in the story of Dutch and his wife.

Okeelanta Poultry Man Suffers From Dike Breaks

The Poultry Farm owned and operated by Clarence A. Cooper on State Road No. 25 on the original Okeelanta townsite suffered a tremendous loss the last of the week for the second successive year as result of the flooded conditions of the Lake Okeechobee Everglades.

The new dike which had been built since last year's flood, higher and stronger than the dike which went out a year ago was breached Friday evening about dark by the rising flood waters and the chicken houses inundated. Five thousand birds in various stages of maturity were lost as a result of the flooding of the dike. A few were trapped by the dikes and pumps. Nine hundred and seventy-three out of 1300 small chicks about three weeks old were salvaged and sold at the nominal price of 25 cents a piece.

The dikes were being carefully watched and sandbagged in all known weak spots. The break came at a point considered safe without any warning.

The Coopers last year lost some 8100 birds of near flying size and younger in the flood caused by the extremely heavy rainfall of the summer of 1947. Their dikes and pumping system at that time had been considered adequate to keep their chicken houses and runs dry but were overcome by the unprecedented rise of flood waters from the glades. The loss this fall comes just as they were beginning to recoup their last year's heavy loss and is a blow to the industry.

Mr. Cooper is one of the pioneer poultry raisers in the Everglades, having sustained his first severe loss of birds in the hurricane of 1928, when he lost 1700 laying hens. He then moved his family to Williamson, W. Va., where they remained for a number of years, returning to the Glades several years ago to reopen his poultry venture.

Friday evening when Mr. Cooper saw that his flock was doomed he called Chief C. G. Payne at South Bay and advised him that 1500 three pound fryers were in imminent danger of drowning and that he would gladly give them to anyone who would come and fish them out of the flood. A goodly number of white and negro people were salvaged and taken home by the Coopers. The gift of the poultryman to the public. 253 of these chickens were saved by the Coopers from a chicken house before it was flooded and placed on their front lawn for the night and later sold.

Thus out of the 6572 birds on the farm, 1226 were all that were salvaged by the Coopers.

Mr. Cooper states that he is not licked yet. He is going to build a bigger and better dike—one that will hold against any emergency—and try it again even if he has to start over more with just 100 chickens and build up his flock.

PTA Funds Will Be Handled
 Through a Central Outlet

Mrs. E. W. McLeod of South Bay, met with her executive board and representatives from the County School Board Thursday to make plans to conform their financial department in accordance with a law recently passed by the state legislature to the effect that all Parent Teacher money making events in which school facilities or children are used must be set up in such a way that the school principal as well as the Parent Teacher Association shall be co-responsible for the expenditure of funds since the principal is required by law to include such expenditures in his report.

School board members Mrs.
 Ruth Wedgeworth and Carmen Salvatore were present to explain the law and how it should be worked out. They explained that such funds should be placed in a bank account and all checks signed by the treasurer of the association must be countersigned by the principal or some person whom he should designate for that purpose.

The executive board accordingly made a recommendation to be presented to the next regular meeting of the Parent Teacher Association to set up three separate funds: (1) A regular fund comprised of membership dues and other funds raised by the association within its own body to be used to pay county, state and national dues and other expenses. (2) A general fund from monies raised by the annual Carnival and other special events to used for school equipment and activities. (3) The Cafeteria Fund.

 Mrs. Landings who has oversight of the Palm Beach County cafeterias was also present and explained that plans called for the placing of the cafeterias on a paying basis so that the Parent Teacher Association would not be called upon to make up any deficit.

Erwin C. Kennedy, R. C. Fisher, E. E. Dasher, Mrs. Verda Higginbotham and Mrs. E. M.
 Willis were present.

There is one product which comes from Florida which has proven most popular with California home supply buyers, and that is our canned fruit juices, orange, grapefruit, and combinations of these fruit fruits. More than a million and a quarter cases were sold there last year, which is pretty good considering the need to buck like products of California groves and packers.

Jay Morris has a business in Belle Glade, which has little competition, and that is the supplying of piling posts for foundation uses. In the ten years he has been supplying this commodity, he had handled several hundred thousands of pieces of timber. Up to date most of this supply has come from the lands of the Consolidated Land Company, but as this corporation had sold off much of its holdings, the supply is becoming harder and farther away to secure, but there is plenty of supply to meet future requirements.

There are very few men in Belle Glade who have a more intimate knowledge about the canal and lock system in the Everglades section than just Joe Cherry, Sr., who for years was employed by the state and navigation companies. He was the man who supervised the putting in the concrete work for the St. Lucie canal lock, and several on the east coast section. When the St. Lucie was recently taken over by Government engineers for the new work on that waterway, Joe, fell as if he had lost a good old friend of boyhood days. Who knew that the early canal days in the Glades, he can speak many words as Old Faithful does not water.

Church buildings in the early days of the Glades were few and far between, but at the communities began to grow, the need of such edifices was felt, and new structures were erected. It is of record that several churches in Pahokee, Canal Point, Belle Glade and Moore Haven, were largely constructed with membership labor, but that the preachers did most of the work. Tolle, Jamez, Jondra and Sentell were pretty competent handlers of the construction tools. All prospered comfortably in church homes when they had completed their labors.

Had a look at a consignment of ladies dresses in one of our trade emporiums the other day, and were they "birds"? Of all shades and designs, and trimmings. Noted that the waist girdles and a big bow, at the rear, were again back in the style list.

Have often known of pigs breaking out of pens and doing damage, but nothing to compare with the wreckage which pork purchases created in a pocket book. The Meat Institute brought us a word of cheer the past week that pork was in its way down the price scale, and decline will be hitting Belle Glade in the very near future.

Tom Pennington, who was disposed as Chief of Police and given the position of Street Superintendent, is not too depressed or regretful over that action, for he says he has been relieved of considerable work, and the clock responsibility, and can get an honest night's sleep once again. He states that he knows he gave an honest administration while head of the police department and that the street department will take the same type of operation. Mayor Lloyd lives near the water-works so when Sup. Clarence Thorne, needs him a voice communication can be exchanged. Handy sometimes to be nearby.

By personal experience I have noted that when you call a phone number, and place the little word "PLEASE" after the call, that you get a sweet, thank you, but if it is omitted, well you guess how cold the response can be.

Here's a little dialogue which took place between a potential patient and one of our local physicians: "Patient, 'Doctor, if there is anything wrong with me, don't frighten me half to death by giving it a long scientific name, just tell me what it is in plain English. Doctor, Well sir, to be frank, you're just plain lazy.' Patient, 'Thank you, doctor, now give me the scientific name for it so I can tell my wife.'"

And what is the baby's name asked the minister. The young father smiled proudly as he hosted the little fellow up in his arm and said, "Chauncy William Montgomery Finley... Tip shot the minister's bicycle wheel, he turned to his assistant and said, "More water, please."

Many a man has quit calling his wife, "the little woman" after taking a good survey of her in slacks.

Bill Snyder, well known writer on outdoor life subjects, in a recent issue of the Florida Wildlife Magazine, had a most readable article relating his experience with fishery biologist on Lake Okeechobee and the St. John's River, where the State Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission is conducting an extensive investigation, to get exact and complete facts about fishing. Bill says that prior to his experience he had little faith in such scientific experts, but after seeing and joining in their arduous work, had taken a reverse opinion he held about them, and had become one of their converts.

The closing paragraph of his story reads thus:—"However, of one thing I am certain, may be biologists didn't exactly talk my language, but they were, with much sweat and hard work gathering facts in perplexing problems that only a biologist could solve. Whatever the ultimate answer, I told myself, it would be solidly backed up by scientific data, and what's more important, IT WOULD BE HONEST." Director Ben Morgan of the Commission states that fishing this year in Florida has hit a new all high record, as every one in Florida seems to be enjoying the fishing pastime. That the hunting and fishing business in Florida is worth $2,000,000 a year to the state, second only to the incomes of the citrus and tourist business.

Thank God, that the recent storm, passed us by as it did, without doing much damage, beyond water loss. The city was well boarded up, in expectation of a hard storm. Comparatively few people left the local territory to escape the storm.

Under storm and baseball tension, the writer, has had quite a hectic time of it the past week, those old nerves are still what they used to be. For 28 years I have been waiting to give a yell of victory for the Indians, and those three who did rouse the boys over at the Elks Club room, for they wondered whether or not the old Judge had gone insane, but it was not noticeable that most of the men there expressing the same sentiment over the Indian victory.

Mrs. R. J. Hendry, Sr., for saving the silver dollars which came in over the counter, on account of their mintage dates, some of them are very valuable today, and in looking around to determine valuable loss this collection was among the missing items.

Our farmers had more of a satisfied smile on their visages on Wednesday morning, than they had on Tuesday night, when appearances were in fact, but had hurricane and rain storm hitting the local area.

The Glades Chevrolet corporation is now in the market for a new fire truck about ready to deliver to the city. The Baiting have taken over the job to place the equipment and apparatus on the chassis. They are using many parts from the discarded No. 1, which will make quite a saving, as price of truck parts and other fire equipment is out of sight.

The State Highway Department, and officers of cities, are mighty pleased with the acquisition of the extension of Federal Route 27, through 485 miles of territory, running north to the straits in Northern Michigan. At Cypress Gardens at Winter Haven, on October 16, the Chamber of Commerce will hold an outing honoring Elgin Bayless, chairman of the extension. The routing thru Florida will include the following noted resorts: Silver Springs, Cypress Gardens, Bok Tower, U. S. Sugar Mill, as well as the romantic drive through the Citrus Belt and the heart of the Everglades, from South Bay to Miami.

Commission Will Adopt Plan for Weekly News Release

There is a new atmosphere, one of organization for progress, prevailing around the City Hall departments. As a result of conferences held during the week, a program has been set up, whereby the department heads will file a written report each Tuesday with the City Clerk, who will prepare a press release, and the information as what has transpired during the preceding week in all departments. The Mayor, backed by the commission, is of the opinion, that a citizens and tax payers have a full right to know what operations are going on, and what projects that are under consideration, and there will be no undercurrent or hold back when same are formulated for presentation and action.

Some of the rules, regulations, and formation now in existence are likely to be revised so as to bring about better knowledge and operation and co-operation.

New Books Available At Public Library

The Public Library reports an almost double increase in the circulation of books during the past year. According to Bettie W. Harris, librarian, 1019 were read in August and September, and during the same months in 1947 only 560 were circulated.

Recently 45 new books were added to the shelves, among

Odd Fellows Go to Sacramento for Their 1948 Convention

Messrs. Paul Davidson, John M. Gledhill and Marvin Carter were attendees at the meeting of West Palm Beach lodge, No. 88, 100P., in West Palm Beach, on Wednesday night, where Carter received the second degree, and will receive the Third degree on October 20, along with several other candidates.

Past Master H. P. Dawson, who recently attended the SCL session at St. Paul, Minn., announced that the 1949 session of that body would be held in Sacramento, Cal. Steps have been taken to establish co-operative and visitation relations with the Manchester Unity of England, which is the mother lodge of the American branch of the order, with a view of the possibility of consolidation. Grand Sire White, of London, of the Manchester Unity, was an honored guest at the St. Paul meeting.

Shack Consumed by Fire

The old frame negro shack which stood on the west side of South Main Street just outside the corporate limit was burned to the ground, one day last week. The structure was fully ablaze before the fire was discovered, but was too far gone for the fire department to do anything about it. This was quite an old building, but had been unoccupied of months.
